

2013

SCIENCETALK a seminar series

Thursday, February 7, 2013

Conference Presenters' Conceptions of Reform in Mathematics Education

Dr. Wendy Sanchez, Associate Professor of Mathematics and Mathematics Education at Kennesaw State University

Dr. Kimberly Gardner, Assistant Professor of Mathematics Education at Kennesaw State University and

Dr. Alyson Lischka, Lecturer of Mathematics at Kennesaw State University

Sponsored by the Department of Mathematics and Statistics

Thursday, March 14, 2013

Using Browser-Based Tools and Eye Tracker Technology to Study Student Problem Solving in General and Organic Chemistry

Dr. Norbert Pienta, Professor & Director of General Chemistry Instruction at the University of Georgia

Sponsored by the Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry

Thursday, March 28, 2013

From molecule to tissue: Multiscale modeling of angiogenesis

Dr. Yi Jiang, Associate Professor, Department of Mathematics and Statistics at the Georgia State University

Sponsored by the Department of Mathematics and Statistics

Thursday, April 11, 2013

Video Games, Security, GIS and IT in the U.A.E

Dr. Mario Guimaraes, Professor, College of Information Technology at Zayed University in the United Arab Emirates (U.A.E.)

Sponsored by the Department of Computer Science

Thursday, April 25, 2013

Microtechnologies for High-throughput High-content Developmental Biology and Neurogenetics

Dr. Hang Lu, Associate Professor & James R. Fair Faculty Fellow in School of Chemical & Biomolecular Engineering at

Georgia Institute of Technology

Sponsored by the Department of Biology and Physics

Select Thursdays
3:30 pm - 4:45 pm
Clendenin Building, room 2008 (CL 2008)
Kennesaw State University

