

2014

SCIENCETALK a seminar series

Tuesday, April 29, 2014

Dissecting the genetic mechanisms of sickle cell nephropathy: from humans to zebrafish

Dr. Allison Ashley-Koch, Professor of Medical Genetics, Duke Center for Human Genetics at Duke University Medical Center

Science Building Auditorium (SC 109)

12:30 - 1:45 pm

Tuesday, February 4, 2014

What's Eating You?": Quantifying Proteolytic Activity in Health and Disease to Predict Disease Potential

Dr. Manu O. Platt, Coulter Department of Biomedical Engineering, Georgia Institute of Technology & Emory University in Atlanta, GA

Science Building Auditorium (SC 109)

12:30 - 1:45 pm

College of Science and Mathematics

CELEBRATING OUR PAST, IGNITING OUR FUTURE